McGazzaland - Changes are Coming!

by Rea Nailer

Wow, we are close to marking another year gone without the big man Kelly. But this year has seen some significant steps forward in the McGazzaland project.

Back in May 2020, while things were looking a little grim, we received news that we had been successful with a grant of $40,000 from the Rata Foundation.

This was followed by a grant of $4,000 from the Tasman District Council Community Grants Scheme and a $4,000 contribution from the Wakefield Community Council [through funds raised from the production of this newsletter].

And now, the final financial piece of the puzzle [for now]. This month we received notice that we have had a grant of $89,940 from the Lottery Grants Board approved. This grant will also go towards the building of the McGazzaland pump track. This means that we can now make plans to get started on the physical work.

We sincerely thank all of these organisations for recognising what we are trying to achieve with this project and realising the difference that it can make to our community, and coming on board to support us.

A big massive thank you must also go to Katrina McLean for all her amazing fundraising efforts - we wouldn't be here without her.

Tom Hey (who builds amazing tracks around the world and will build McGazzaland) came up from Queenstown to consult with the Tasman District Council and us about where our pump track is going and what would make it epic.

Tom Hey has known Kelly for many years. Tom has built tracks and trails all around the world with Kelly (including a few of the Red Bull crankworx tracks around the world) and still spends a large amount of time overseas (before Covid-19).

This pump track will be happening very soon - we are working on a date to get started and it won't be far away!!!! Watch this space!!!

As part of the process of building the track, there will be some limitations on access and there will be things consider if you use this area of the village.

Please look out for any information regarding when and if the access to the carpark and McGazzaland is going to be closed as while work is being done it is unsafe to have vehicles and trucks parking there. This will also mean that the rear entrance to the reserve will be closed off as well as the walking track along the side of McGazzaland.

We are still looking for hard fill soil for the track build and any offers of support would be kindly received - please contact Dan on 027 282 0838.

The McGazzaland and McGazza forever a legend t-shirts are still available from Gizmos Richmond.

It would be fantastic if you could send in some pics of you using the track/ skate ramp so we can show the community how much you enjoy using it and we will try to publish some pics each month in here, the Window On Wakefield. Please send them to windowonwakefield@gmail.com.

In the Bush

We finished our year up working at the bottom of the lookout hill opposite the Scout Den, releasing the three year old trees from an over growth of grass. We did appreciate that our member Eric Palmer had excellently prepared this area for us by weed eating much of the long grass to give us better access to the plantings.

After all that hard work a Christmas brunch was held at the Scout Den. Amongst other things, the local fresh strawberries, raspberries and cream went down a treat. It also gave us time to reflect on the twenty years that our Society has actively been "guardians" for our three Scenic Reserves here in Wakefield.

Also 2021 will see us heading for another very busy time, doing all the necessary preparation work to be done at the Robson's Scenic Reserve for the planned planting of 3,000 native trees. Many volunteer hours will be put in by our society members during this time.

Our society with funding assistance from the Tasman District Council Grant Scheme has also prepared the historic information and photographs which give a brief insight into the Faulkner family. This panel should be on site at Faulkner Bush in the early part of the New Year. We have appreciated the efforts of our members Pam Jackett and Evie-joy South for their historical research for this project.

We will continue our usual society weeding/maintenance days in February, however some of our members, will be visual to you during the holiday time, as the weeds have been rampant and maintenance of track work etc is always ongoing.

Very Best Wishes for 2021

Health Centre

by Gavin Drummond

Happy New Year to all our patients and friends of the Health Centre. Last year was a difficult year for us all and here's hoping that 2021 is an easier and happy year for everyone.

Some of our GPs are taking a well-earned break at the start of the year and Dr's Mark and Eloise Fry are returning to the Chatham Islands in mid-January and will be away for eight weeks. During these periods we will have the help of both Dr Ella Thompson and Dr Natalie Price, both of whom have been registrars at our practice, and some of you will know them.

We changed our Practice Management System in November, moving from Medtech to Indici. A big change with some challenges for us, but an important step to have an appropriate IT system in place which can maximise the opportunities of the ever changing IT landscape.

By changing our computer system this also meant that we have changed our user portal.

Anyone 18 or over with an email address can have access to the portal, which allows you to:

- book appointments online with your registered doctor
- order repeat prescriptions
- check your test results

Many of you who were users of ManageMy Health have already moved over to MyIndici and we encourage all of our patients to take up this service.

Please give us a call on our usual number and our reception staff will help you.

Best Wishes for the New Year from us all at the Wakefield Health Centre.

Wakefield Pharmacy New Pharmacist

Wakefield Pharmacy welcomes onboard new pharmacist

The friendly, professional team at Wakefield Pharmacy are delighted to welcome onboard a new managing pharmacist, Brad Collins. "Brad is a rural lad from down South who married a local girl from Wakefield earlier this year, so he's got ties with the area which is really good," says Scott Fry, who co-owns Wakefield Pharmacy with Andrew McGlashen. Scott says Brad is a very strong Pharmacist and Manager, bringing with him a wealth of experience, as he has come from Prices Pharmacy, one of the biggest pharmacies in the South Island where he has been working for the last nine years. "We are thrilled to have him on the team; he will fit in nicely with our customers, staff and I'm sure enjoy the rural experience." Brad has been living in the Nelson area for the last 12 years and thoroughly enjoys everything the outdoors has to offer, especially the fantastic mountain biking.

Zoe Millington, who has been in the role for the past year, has done a great job steering the Pharmacy through a change of ownership, a new fitout and the challenges of COVID-19. Zoe has really enjoyed her time at Wakefield Pharmacy; however, she is moving down to the West Coast and is looking forward to settling into the Coaster's way of life.

Scott says he has been spending a lot of time at Wakefield Pharmacy overseeing its fit-out and implementing new systems, its great to see the final result and we have really appreciated the feedback so far. "Over this time, there have been many customers in Richmond who have noticed my absence at Fry's Pharmacy, so I'm looking forward to getting back in there and reconnecting next year."

Both Scott and Andrew are local Tasman boys. Together, they own McGlashen Pharmacy and Fry's Pharmacy in Richmond also. "We would like to thank all our customers for their loyalty throughout COVID and for shopping local," says Scott. "We've got fantastic teams and all our staff have gone above and beyond to ensure our vision of exemplary customer experience has been consistently met throughout this incredibly tough time."

Team Heyward Property Talk

How much is your property worth?

by Lydia Heyward

A question we see a lot in the office is people wanting an indicative price of what their property may be worth. Although it may be seen as an easy task, there are a lot of factors to consider when finding out how much your property may be worth in the current market.

The rating value (RV) is one of the values a buyer may use to assess the property's value. An RV is the value the local council uses to determine the rates payable on the property. The RV does not necessarily determine the current market value, especially here in the Tasman District, with the current rating valuations carried out in September 2017 by QV and more recently a delayed 2020 assessment yet to come. Valuations remain valid for three years unless there is a change to the property through a building consent, subdivision or resurvey.

Market values can change quickly, for example in a property boom or when an area gets re-zoned. Thereby a more thorough appraisal can be carried out by a real estate agent, often obligation free. Known as a current market appraisal (CMA), your chosen agent/s will prepare and present an appraisal and proposal for you to consider. The agent will compare your property to others that have sold recently, what's currently on the market and also after a visit to the property they will assess its condition. Real estate agents also include a proposal of the services the agent can offer and thoughts on how to best market your property. It may be worth speaking with more than one agent. Finding an agent you are comfortable with selling your property, often your most valuable asset.

Another option is to get a registered valuer to provide a valuation for you. Property valuer is a service that comes at a cost, price varying depending on level of detail and provider. Registered property valuers are qualified and experienced in property valuation. With a thorough knowledge on the local real estate market, building methods, materials and legislation. Registered Valuers can be found on the Property Institute website.

As always it's best to have your home looking its best to get the best price when it's time to sell. Both agents and property valuers are often happy to recommend what areas to work on to optimise the property value. This can help save time and money on un-necessary renovations. A simple lick of paint or de-clutter may make all the difference in some cases.

A good website to check what your property's value is worth is Price My House, you can find it on the web at pricemyhouse.co.nz.

Hope you have an enjoyable Summer holidays, stay safe and put on the sun screen!

Playcentre

by Rosie Hollands

It's only been a couple of weeks since our last write up but it's been busy, as I'm sure it is for everyone at this time of year!

We were very lucky to have Santa come to visit our Play Centre despite his very busy schedule. He had to stop by to pass on very important messages such as making sure the dogs were tied up on the night of Christmas Eve so that they didn't disturb sleeping parents when he passed through, and that the kids needed to remember to write letters to let him know their addresses! So easy to forget these types of things during the busy season.

At the end of November we had a trip to the Nelson Gymnasium to practice our bouncing, balancing, and swinging. The favourite part is always the foam pit!

There was also a trip to Rabbit Island for a joint Play Centre excursion. So nice to meet some new whānau and catch up with old friends.

A highlight at the end of every year is our annual trip to Wild Oats Farm. It is a fantastic facility where the tamariki can explore the different animal enclosures or playground. There were all sorts of animals to feed and ponies to ride. There was even a 'fairy walk' through the bush. Thank you to the team for a wonderful day.

A huge thank you to everyone who has been a part of our Play Centre this year!

We are so lucky to have an amazingly supportive community surrounding us.

Merry Christmas to everyone and a very Happy New Year!

Town and Country Vet

by Brenda Halliwell, Vet

TICKS

The cattle tick is well established in New Zealand and summer time is when we most often see them. They favour cattle but can also infest deer, sheep, goats, horses, rabbits, birds, domestic pets – and humans!!!

Cattle ticks spend most of their life cycle in the long grass, and only attach themselves to a passing host when they need to feed. It's usually the adult ticks which people see attached to animals – they can be anywhere from 2-10mm long depending on how much blood they've filled up on!

Ticks now carry Theileria which causes anaemia and ill-health in cattle. Theileria doesn't affect other species but ticks cause skin damage, irritation and sometimes infection.

There are several treatments for ticks available. For cats and dogs we recommend using a flea and tick product all-in-one. Bravecto for dogs and cats and Nexgard for dogs are two great products.

If you have not protected your pet with a tickicide and you discover a tick well-attached – do not try to remove it! If you do there is a chance you may leave the 'head' buried in the skin which can later cause an infection. If it's not bothering your pet, you can try waiting for it to drop off. Otherwise the best thing to remove them safely is apply Frontline Spray directly to the tick which will cause it to die and drop off. It is easy to mistake a fully engorged tick for a lump on your pet so if you are unsure call the clinic.

For farm animals, there are very effective pour-on treatments available but they work best combined with pasture and stock management. Talk to Joe or Roger at the clinic for more info.

Fly Strike in Rabbits

Unfortunately it's the time of year when we see fly strike in our pet rabbits. This is a serious often fatal problem that can occur within hours. Flies are attracted to rabbit's damp fur, urine, faeces and they lay their eggs on or around the rabbit's bottom. Maggots will hatch within hours and quickly eat into the rabbit's flesh as well as releasing dangerous toxins.

Prevent fly strike by checking your rabbit twice daily to ensure its bottom is clean and dry. Remove soiled bedding as soon as possible and keep the surrounding environment clean. Ensure your rabbit is not being overfed or fed incorrectly which can lead to diarrhoea and soiled fur. If you find maggots on or around your rabbit's bottom, phone us immediately. We urgently need to remove eggs and maggots and prevent pain, infection and shock.

Kittens

Yes it's kitten season again! And here are some things to consider before bringing one home – the kitten may be free but the ongoing care is not.

1. Nutrition – buy a good quality kitten food to ensure optimum growth and development
2. Worming – is every two weeks initially then eventually every three months for the rest of their life, especially if they are hunters.
3. Flea control – regular treatment (sometimes every 4-6 weeks) is needed to keep fleas away.
4. Vaccinations – kittens need to be vaccinated against cat flu twice usually at 9 and 12 weeks. Then again one year later, then every two years for the rest of their life. Vaccination against FIV (cat AIDS) should also be considered.
5. Neutering – male and female kittens should be 'fixed' at 5-6 months old – for many reasons but especially population control.
6. Time – get a kitten if you are prepared to spend time with them, every day for the next 10-15 years

Other things to consider include microchipping to identify your cat if it strays (the TDC is considering making this compulsory), grooming requirements especially if long-haired, and pet insurance or a savings account for unexpected veterinary bills.
